Our commitment encompasses serving the youth through education, sports and formation. We seek to develop services for the elderly and homebound. Finally, we wish to challenge and sustain all parishioners through spiritual and educational activities.

From the Music Director

The Servant Song

Richard Gillard was born in England in 1953, and at age three his family emigrated to New Zealand. His faith background is a mix of the Anglican Church on his mother's side and the Pentecostal Church on his father's side of the family. He had little musical training, but as a child began playing the ukulele, and later the guitar, learning from church musicians. He worked until 1975 as an elementary teacher and then in a warehouse. He sang with a church folk group of young people and began writing songs for them in the late 1970s.

"The Servant Song" began in 1977 when he jotted down verse 3 on a piece of paper while traveling through Britain, Europe and Israel. (I will hold the Christ-light for you in the nighttime of your fear...) Returning home, he found it in his guitar case and completed it. Its three themes are service, journey, and communion. But what feelings does the song evoke for you? Are you bearing an unexpected load now? Is someone sharing the load with you? What is the peace you long to hear?

Word of Life

“Over the years, the FDA has bent the law and shown disregard for women’s health when it comes to chemical abortion. In 2000, mifepristone was first approved using an ‘accelerated’ review process that is supposed to be only for new drugs that treat serious illnesses and are better than existing treatments. But pregnancy is not an illness, and abortion drugs are riskier than surgical abortion.”

A Reflection from Love and Serve

This Week's Readings | USCCB

The Book of Numbers gets its name from two censuses taken of the Hebrew people, one near the beginning and the other toward the end of their exodus from Egypt. It continues the book of Exodus' narrative of the Israelites wandering through the wilderness for thirty-eight years on their way to the promised land. Containing legal ordinances, the book is a combination of history and law. Today's Old Testament Reading is taken from Chapter 11. God bestowed His Spirit upon seventy elders of Israel, giving them the gift of prophecy. This shift from Moses, a singular prophet, to a broader community of prophets reflects God's desire to build community and engage all His people in His mission. The passage emphasizes the importance of the Holy Spirit in the life of the community, empowering individuals and fostering unity and collective witness among them. The passage also recounts Moses' aide's jealousy of other elders' gift of prophecy, revealing a tribal mindset of a social structure and a closed community.

In today's Gospel Reading, we continue to read about the disciples' struggles to understand the true meaning of Jesus' teachings, for their human thoughts differ from God's. Speaking for the disciples, John says: "Teacher, we saw someone driving out demons in your name, and we tried to prevent him because he does not follow us." Jesus replied, "Do not prevent him. There is no one who performs a mighty deed in my name who can at the same time speak ill of me." (Mark 9:38-39). Here again, we witness human nature's closed community tribal mindset.

As we close ourselves to boundaries beset by race, country, political affiliation, and even faith groups, we fail to recognize the good in people different from us; we are blinded to God's Spirit at work in them. God's grace is not limited to our man-made circles; how we look at the world is not how He looks at it.

Many around us are doing good, feeding the hungry, caring for the needy, and visiting the imprisoned. These are the works Jesus called His followers to do. Remember His words: "For whoever does the will of my heavenly Father is my brother, and sister, and mother." (Matthew 12:50). We must recognize the Holy Spirit moving others to care for the needy and lift those on the margins. Let us withhold judgment and reject divisiveness, discord, and hostility undermining the Church's efforts to unite God's children and proclaim the Gospel. "It is in this divided world that the Church is sent forth today to promote harmony and peace. In charity and truth she goes forth: in that charity which sees every person as a child of God, as a brother or sister of equal dignity, regardless of his or her social status, regardless of his or her race or religion; and in the truth which overcomes the slavery of falsehood and brings new freedom to mind and heart." (Pope John Paul II, February 6, 1986).

The Catholic Steward

Stewardship Education and Reflections on the Weekly Mass Readings

In our readings this week, Eldad, Medad, and the man driving out demons were all doing the work of God. They had been entrusted with a gift and used it to glorify the Lord. Joshua and John should have responded in joy and appreciation for another's gifts and talents.

We oftentimes look at another's strengths as our weakness whether it be in parish life, in the workforce, or even in our own families.

Jesus is calling us to cut out those sinful thoughts and attitudes from our lives. The next time we witness someone being a good steward of God's gifts — rejoice! And continue to examine how you are using your gifts and talents to ensure you are being a good steward of what God has entrusted to you.

We do not want to end up like the rich in our Second Reading from St. James. They stored up their riches to the point where they withheld wages from their workers! They clenched tightly to the pleasures and luxuries that the world offers and put it in front of both God and their neighbor. They misused the gifts God bestowed on them.

We must keep this in perspective as we journey on our path as Christian stewards. We do not live for this life, but for the next.

He has given us time every day, countless talents, and numerous treasures. Are we using them for His glory?

This week when we witness other people in our lives using the gifts God has given to them, instead of becoming jealous or critical, say a prayer of thanksgiving and take time to reflect on what God has gifted you and how you can offer it to Him for His glory.
